Aerophone Band

Aerophone is a not-for-profit band established in 2009 for woodwind, brass and percussion players who wish to enrich their playing experience. This is a great opportunity to improve skills, work on more challenging music, and be in a group where everyone is truly committed to making great music! The emphasis for the ensemble will be on developing musical abilities through a diverse selection of literature.

Aerophone Director

Richard Holod has more than 25 years experience teaching junior high and high school. He has been a guest conductor for both All-District and All-County ensembles. Mr. Holod is also very involved in the New York State School Music Association. He has hosted both Solo and Large Ensemble festivals and has chaired ensembles and Area All-State festivals. Mr. Holod teaches at Roy C. Ketcham High School.

Aerophone is not affiliated with any school or arts organization, and we are completely self-funded. In August of 2014, The Aerophone Band Corporation was recognized by the IRS as a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization. This allowed the band to receive charitable contributions to cover our operating expenses. These donations are deductible charitable contributions under the tax law.
